

PLANTS & TREES
Norman Foster on Art

Things go wrong so that you never know when they're right believe like in your childhood
in the heart in you but generally and sometimes good things
fall apart in better things can fall together.

A modern, low-profile black leather sofa with a brown cushion, positioned against a wall with a patterned tile section and a yellow wall. The sofa has a simple metal frame and is set on a light-colored wood floor with a herringbone pattern.

A small, modern chair with a white seat and a metal frame, featuring a red teddy bear sitting on it. The chair is positioned against a yellow wall.

A vertical section of the wall featuring a patterned tile design with blue, white, and yellow geometric patterns, set against a yellow wall.
